DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 111-120 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 111-116, and 118-120 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gray et al. US 2002/0173769 in view of Kubota et al. US 20030125679. Gray discloses an infusion set comprising a needle housing 22 having a proximal port, a distal port and a base surface; a mounting pad (paragraph 0071) coupled to the base surface of the needle housing and having a transverse hole; and a transcutaneous cannula 16 having a proximal end connected to the distal port of the needle housing and a distal end that is adapted to be fed through the transverse hole (paragraph 0071). Gray does not disclose the transcutaneous cannula comprises a tube having an outer wall and an inner wall, and an outer photocatalytic layer attached to the outer wall of the tube.

Kubota describes an implant including a photocatalytic unit. Kubota teaches titanium oxide as a photocatalyst layer and teaches the tube exhibits excellent antibacterial activity due to the photocatalyst layer(Abstract). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to modify the tube of Gray with a photocatalytic layer for the benefit of providing antibacterial qualities to the tube as taught in Kubota. and where the photocatalytic layer is porous (paragraph 008) has a UV transmissive material (paragraph 0011). Kubota teaches the thickness of the oxidized layer of up to 10 μm (paragraph 0015). Kubota discloses a base material 13, wave guide 32 made of silicone, and photocatalytic layer 16 comprising semiconductor oxide and further containing silver ions (paragraph 0068).

5. Claim 17 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Gray et al. US 2002/0173769 in view of Kubota et al. US 200301256 as applied to claims 111-114 above, and further in view of Lichtin et al. USPN 4861484. Gray/Kubota disclose the present invention substantially as claimed. However, Gray/Kubota does not disclose the outer surface of the titania is doped with nitrogen. Lichtin discloses providing environmentally compatible reaction products using nitrogen containing compositions for the benefit of providing easily neutralized or otherwise containable reaction products (col. 5, lines 8-19). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art to use nitrogen compositions in the invention of Gray/Kubota for the benefits taught in Lichtin.

Conclusion

6. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within

TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
